LA SALLE COLLEGE
PHILADELPHIA

LA SALLE IS GROWING . . .

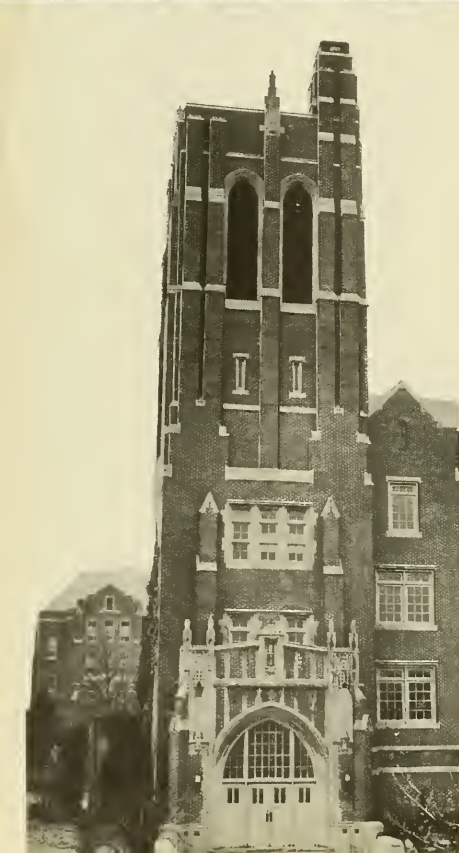

In 1863, the Christian Brothers opened a small school in Philadelphia. Within twenty years the school had outgrown its facilities and was forced to move to a new location. A few more years and this location also became too small and the school moved again, this time to more spacious acreage at the present site, 20th and Olney. Buildings began to grow out of the ground, slowly at first, then rapidly as the G.I. Bill swelled enrollment and filled the classrooms. Old facilities were expanded, new facilities were created—another classroom building, a modern library, a bigger, better dining hall. Today student residence buildings are rising.

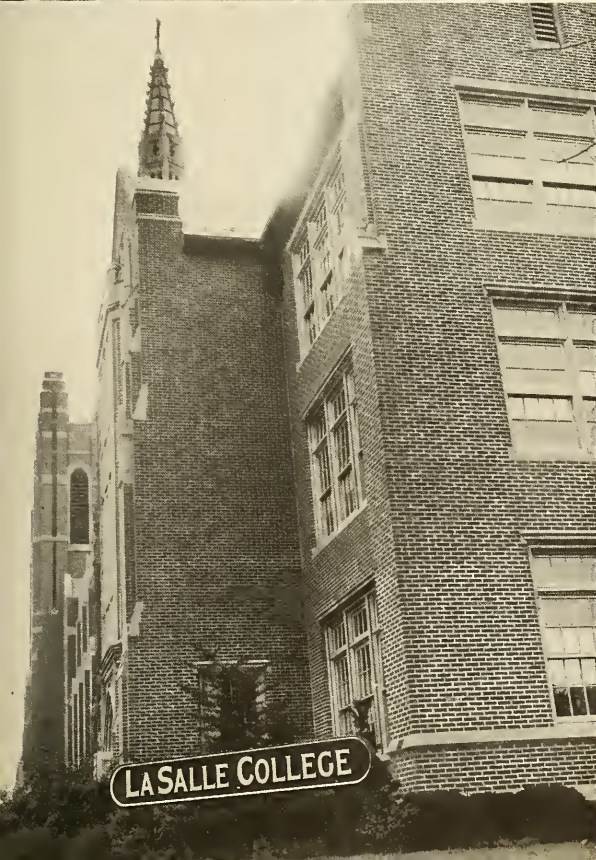

In the four years we have been here, we, the senior class, have seen La Salle inaugurate a most ambitious plan for expansion, not only in brick and steel, but in achievement and glory and renown. La Salle men are gaining fame in business and the professions. La Salle's champions carry her name to all America and the world. Her students are to be found in all walks, classes and stations of life.

La Salle is growing. Future years will bring greater enrollments, greater facilities, ever greater accomplishments. La Salle is ours. We feel it growing and take pride in its growth. We take pride in being part of the young giant that is rising rapidly to towering stature.

BROTHER G. PAUL, F.S.C., PH.D.

LA SALLE IS GROWING . . .

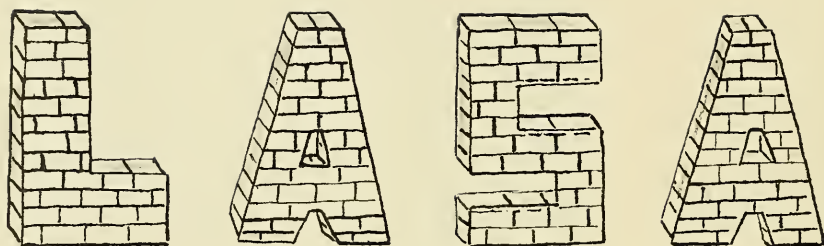

Planning for a program such as is this, is a great responsibility which demands great men. La Salle is blessed in having these great men in Brother G. Paul and Brother E. Stanislaus. Brother Paul was President of La Salle from 1946 to 1952. Under his administration the enrollment rose from 94 students in 1939 to an astonishing 1300 in 1953. His was the problem of accommodating the multiplied post war enrollment. He accepted the challenge and formulated what was not a temporary supplement to existing facilities, but a long range program calling for newer and greater facilities.

Dedication

BROTHER E. STANISLAUS, F.S.C., PH.D.

Brother Stanislaus took up the task when he became president in September of 1952. His job is to see that the dream of expansion remains not a dream, but becomes a concrete and steel reality. This calls for action and Brother Stanislaus is a man of action, a man who gets things done. A more fitting choice for the job cannot be found. With his impressive stature and tremendous drive, Brother Stanislaus is a symbol of the giant that is La Salle.

F A C U L T Y

In his position as president, Brother E. Stanislaus is charged with the execution of La Salle's ambitious building plans.

Brother D. John, vice-president, during his first year in the position, has done an excellent job as adviser and assistant to the president.

As Dean, Brother F. Christopher has done a splendid job of revising and expanding the curriculum to keep it abreast of other developments in the building program.

The best witness to La Salle's rapid growth is the Registrar, Brother G. Joseph.

First to taste the fruits of the building program has been Brother E. Joseph, director of the new library.

The Bursar, Brother E. John, is the man who handles the biggest problem of a big plan.

Student Council

Student Council was directed this year by one of the best presidents the organization has had since its initiation. Under the direction of Peter Finley the student government body conducted a successful blood donor drive, continued the operation of the student loan fund, organized the meeting schedule and activities of campus organizations, and sponsored a number of rallies.

Student Council members were Joe Freeman, '53, Louis Masucci, '53, Frank Aeillo, '53, Joe Adams, '53, Joseph Scaffidi, '54, Harry White, '54, William Wingel, '54, Paul Bernard, '54, Anthony Mele, '55, Leo Eisenstein, '55, Larry Narcisi, '55, James Gillespie, '55, Henry De Vincent, '56, Charles Mellon, '56, Joe Maloney, '56, and Joe Peditto, '56.

One of the largest activities conducted by Student Council during the past year was the blood donor drive. Anthony Polcino, '53, was again selected by Council to conduct the program. Polcino turned in a commendable job when the drive attained unexpected success as over two hundred students and faculty members donated blood. An added incentive to the drive was the goal to top the amount of blood collected by St. Joseph's College, which the men at La Salle did easily.

The Student Loan Fund continued its heavy volume of business during the year. Approximately $2,000 was loaned out to students without interest charges. The Student Loan Fund was faithfully administered for three years by Leonard De Santis, '53, who was one of the founders of the fund. During the past year Leo Eisenstein, '55, directed the loan program.

Blue and Gold Ball

The Blue and Gold Ball, oldest and largest formal social at La Salle College, featured one of the nation's most popular dance bands, Tex Beneke. Three hundred students and their guests and alumni crowded the main ballroom of the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel on January 16 to dance to the music of the Beneke orchestra.

General Chairman for the Ball was, Joe Freeman. Anthony Polcino was dance secretary; Leo Eisenstein, treasurer; and Peter Finley, alumni coordinator.

Joe Morrison was in charge of decorations, favors and the ballroom. The Publicity Committee was made up of Lou Masucci, Ted Bateman, John Brady, Michael Montemuro, William Murphy, Ted Bronson, Dewey Clark, William McCaffry, and Jack Van Zandt. Paul Eisenstein, John Rakszowski, Tom O'Malley, Tony Carney, Mark Gavigan, and John Daly were members of the ticket committee. The program was prepared by Eugene Hagan, Dick Ryan, Ted Doyle and Frank Noonan.

Harvest Dance

The twentieth annual Harvest Dance opened the 1952-53 social season at La Salle College. Scene of the traditional social, on November 7th, was the Broadwood Hotel. Approximately three hundred students and their guests danced to the music of the Ken Moore Karavan. As in the past, proceeds from the informal dance went to the Christian Brothers' Scholasticate.

Frank Aeillo was general chairman for the Harvest Dance. He was assisted by Joe Morrison, secretary, and Joe Pelstring, treasurer.

Other committees and members were: Tickets—Chairman Leo Eisenstein, Gene Hagan, Richard Ryan, Bart Brooks, John Foody, Harry White, Joe Scaffidi, Joe Adams and Joe Freeman; Program—Co-chairmen Ted Groody and John Daly, Joe Morrison and Norb Heil; Band—Co-chairmen Gerald Corkery and Frank Hodgson, Anthony Polcino, and Lou Masucci.

The Publicity Committee was made up of Chairman Lou Masucci assisted by Joe Pelstring, Francis Noonan, John Van Zandt and Dewey Clark.

"Snob Social" on

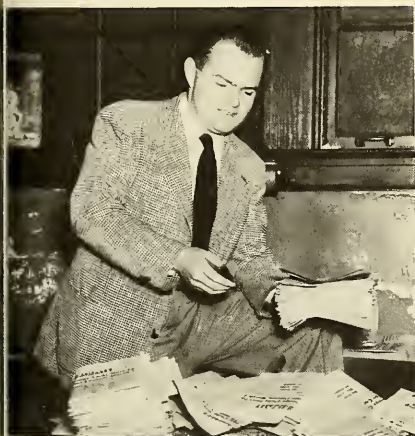

In presenting a key to the retiring editor, Jim Sanzare, Mr. Daniel Rodden, moderator of the "Collegian," congratulated Sanzare on producing the best "Collegian"

Jack Zaccaria, Jim Sanzare, and Jack Mangan are in a serious mood as they prepare the special twelve-page issue of the "Collegian" in honor of the NIT champs last year. The three editors met regularly on Sunday evenings to plan the coming issues.

The editorial board of the "Collegian" goes over latest issue. In a weekly journalism class the editors and staff members discussed the issue published that week, seeking ways to improve the publication in layout and writing.

Center right: Feature Editor Vince D'Andrea retypes an article submitted by his chief aid Len De Sentis. D'Andrea was responsible for one of the best feature pages the "Collegian" has ever produced. De Sentis' copy was always in great demand.

Le Cercle Claudel, organized to bring together students interested in French language and culture, has included as part of its program literary talks and discussions, visits to points of French cultural interest, and attendance at French plays, operas and concerts.

The organization is headed by John Smith. Other officers are Dave Adams, vice-president; Robert Stitt, secretary; and Albert Martucci, treasurer. Senior members are John Andruszko, Robert Bolsover, Gerald Corr, Raymond Ksiazek, Paul McGinnis, Joe Morrison, and John Zaccaria. Brother F. Raymond, assistant professor of French, is moderator.

Pi Delta Phi, national French Honor Society, was brought to the La Salle campus last year. La Salle's chapter, Alpha Psi, was the forty-seventh chapter founded since the establishment of Pi Delta Phi in 1906. The purpose of the organization is to foment a wider knowledge of and a greater love for the contributions of France to world culture.

Members of the fraternity are Robert Bolsover, president; Albert Martucci, vice-president; Robert Stitt, secretary-treasurer; John Andruszko, Gerald Corr, Raymond Ksiazek and John Smith. Dr. John Guisard, assistant professor of French, is moderator of the group.

Bottom: Members of the club gather in the college auditorium entrance.

When speaking of the active organizations on campus, one was immediately reminded of the Circolo Lasalliano, the Italian Club of La Salle College. Going through its second year of existence the Circolo held well-attended weekly meetings where lectures and discussions were held on Italian Culture. Regular among the Italian Club activities were semi-weekly socials at which Italian Clubs of neighboring colleges were guests. The highlight of the Circolo Lasalliano's program was its Italian Music Festival. This year the festival featured a play in Italian, a concert of Italian music and Italian folk dancing.

The success of the Circolo Lasalliano can be attributed to the efforts of its spirited moderator, Brother M. Robert, assistant professor of Italian.

A clothing and toy drive for the benefit of underprivileged Latin-American people living in the Philadelphia area, lectures on Spanish culture and history, and numerous socials were among the activities of El Club Hispano, the Spanish Club of La Salle College, during the past year.

The organization was established in 1949 to provide a closer liaison between students of Spanish and their department, as well as facilitating the cultural and social relations of students of that language. Mr. Joseph Carrio, instructor in Spanish, was the founder of the group and serves as moderator.

Richard McCarty was president of El Club Hispano. Other officers were John Daly, secretary, and Dewey Clark, treasurer. Senior members were John Andruszko, John Curran, Louis Gagliardi, Al Momorella, Tom Sottile, Vincent Zacccone, and Carl Von Nell.

The Interamerican Union of La Salle College is a branch of the Interamerican Union of Catholic College Students. The purpose of the group is to bring together students of the Philadelphia area colleges in the study of language and culture of Latin America. Member colleges of the Union, besides La Salle, include Manor College, Rosemont College, Chestnut Hill College, Immaculata College, Villanova College and St. Joseph's College.

One of the largest activities held by the La Salle group was when it played host at a monthly meeting of the Philadelphia group in the Student Lounge. Almost two hundred students attended the social which included a talk, dancing and refreshments.

Louis Gagliardi is president of the La Salle IAU and Tom Doulis is vice-president. Mr. Joseph Carrio is moderator. Senior members of the organization are John Andruszko, John Curran, Angelo Fario, Richard McCarty, Albert Momorella, and Vince Zacccone.

N. F. C. C. S.

The major program carried out by the campus committee of the National Federation of Catholic College Students during the year was the annual Overseas Service Program clothing drive. The drive was headed by Bill Kohler, NFCCS campus chairman and senior delegate.

Kohler has been active on the NFCCS campus committee since his sophomore year. Last summer he represented La Salle at the ninth national congress of the federation at Notre Dame University in South Bend, Indiana. He was assisted on the campus committee by Bill Wingel, '54.

One of the guiding forces of the National Federation on both the campus and regional levels was Brother George Thomas, La Salle NFCCS moderator for three years. Brother Thomas' interest in the Philadelphia Region, with its seven colleges, helped make it one of the leading districts in the nation.

La Salle College has been fortunate in having two of its students serving the federation on the national level. William Burns, '54, was chairman of the National Interracial Justice Commission which has been stationed on the La Salle campus for two years. Besides planning the interracial program for the entire nation among Catholic colleges, the commission published numerous booklets and a newspaper on the topic. The newspaper, issued monthly throughout the country, was edited by Burns. Brother Thomas also served as moderator of the commission.

The other student offering service to the National Federation was Charles Day who served as national vice-president in charge of Student Affairs. Day was elected to the office at the ninth national convention last summer. He has been active in the program of NFCCS since his Freshman year and has concentrated most of his time in that organization. After serving as campus alternate delegate he became NIJC chairman and then national vice-president. Day attended both the eighth and ninth national meetings.

International Relations Club

During the past year the International Relations Club was listed as one of the more active organizations on campus. Under the leadership of John Mangan the group conducted monthly meetings where prominent speakers discussed international topics of the day, attended regional IRC meetings, promoted a fund raising drive for the flood victims of Holland, and co-sponsored a clothing drive for the needy of Europe.

JOHN MANGAN
President

The principal project of the Historical Society this year was the publication of a monthly "History Club Review." The Review contained articles by club members on the particular topic of the month, introductory material on the subject, and a bibliography. The book was overwhelmingly received and demands were almost double the amount of copies printed. The initial booklet dealt with the British Commonwealth of Nations.

Senior members of the society were President James Sanzare, John Mangan, John Costello, William Kohler, Peter McMahon, Robert Richards, and John Zaccaria. Mr. Ugo Donini, associate professor of History, was moderator of the group.

La Salle College's Delta Chapter of Alpha Epsilon Delta, national Pre-medical Honor Society, had its usual active program during the 1952-53 school year. Open forums, conferences, and a banquet highlighted the AED schedule. Members of the society attended the third annual Eastern Pennsylvania Premedical Conference on November 8. The meeting was held in conjunction with the Temple University School of Medicine and Hospital and was attended by premedical educators and students from twenty colleges and universities in Eastern Pennsylvania. The annual AED Spring Initiation Banquet was held on April 26. The banquet is the main social event of the premedical group. Delta Chapter also conducted a forum on Medical College Admissions Tests and also heard talks by Brother D. Julius and Mr. Victor Folen. The AED program came to a close in May when it played host to a guest speaker from Hahnemann Medical College.

Fabrician Society

JOHN POTTS
President

LEONARD DE SANTIS
Vice-President

The Fabrician Society, established at La Salle in 1933, presented a full schedule of events designed to provide its members with a more intimate knowledge of the medical profession and the requirements and curriculum of medical schools. During the year numerous lecture meetings were held where members heard prominent scientists speak on various facets of medical life. During the regular meetings students also presented papers on medical topics. Tours of medical facilities along with the presentation of many films were also included in the society programs. The officers of the Fabrician Society were John Potts, president; Earl Smith, vice-president; William Thomas, secretary; and Richard O'Brien, treasurer. Brother F. Christopher is moderator of the group.

The members of the Fabrician Society are: J. Brodish, E. Castiglione, L. De Santis, A. Dragani, H. Eberhardt, W. Gordan, R. Heaton, L. Jordan, R. MacWilliams, J. Magee, J. Mallon, R. O'Brien, R. Pearson, R. Posatko, R. Potts, J. Ridjik, F. Sarro, R. Segin, A. Di Nicolantonio, J. Langton, W. Scanlan, R. Ryan, C. Cerini, E. Hagan, V. D'Andrea, and G. Reiss.

Chymian Society

Discussions led by students, lectures by prominent guests, movies, trips to research and industrial laboratories, socials, and various other projects made up the bi-weekly meetings of the Chymian Society. The organization, a student affiliate of the American Chemical Society, was established at La Salle in 1949. Its purpose is to foster interest in the field of Chemistry.

John Rakszowski, president, and Brother M. Edward, assistant professor of Chemistry and moderator of the group, have been the chief reasons why the Chymian Society has gotten a name as one of the most energetic organizations on campus.

Newtonian Society

Founded in 1946 by students of the physical sciences, the Newtonian Society has for its purpose the offering to students the opportunity to increase their knowledge of the sciences. The principal activity of the organization was a weekly meeting where members prepared and delivered papers and conducted demonstrations on topics relating to the scientific field. Guest speakers also addressed the Newtonian Society at various times.

Early in November of last year the Newtonian Society arranged a showing of "Photographic Science" in College Hall, one of a series of photographic exhibitions prepared by the editors of "Life" Magazine. The exhibition consisted of twenty-four photographs by "Life's" Fritz Goro. Enlarged and mounted on eighteen panels, each of the pictures recorded an important moment in the history of scientific achievement.

Members of the organization were President Francis Gavigan, Vice-President Thomas Ward, Secretary Bernard Skwirut, Treasurer Ed McGlynn, Ben Acchione, James Bacon, Henry Beyer, Anthony Campise, Dom Caniglia, Lester De Fonso, Ralph Duncan, Francis Florio, Jerry Guarini, J. Joseph, John Mackey, David Maillie, Stephen McCarron, Eugene McKee, Lawrence Nicastro, and John Rakowski.

Brother D. John, assistant professor of Physics, is moderator of the Newtonian Society.

Accounting Association

The Accounting Association is an organization for all upper classmen majoring in Accounting who are interested in broadening their knowledge of financial matters and being appraised of the opportunity for positions subsequent to graduation. The activities of the club during the year were planned to carry out these purposes. The group held many meetings on campus where lectures were given by leading accountants. The members of the Accounting Association attended the Philadelphia Accounting Forum and banquet held at the University of Pennsylvania on December 4. The group also held many pre-game banquets during the basketball season, along with many other social activities. The officers of the Accounting Association are Joseph Fricker, president; Dom Salerno, vice-president; Art O'Neill, secretary; and James McGlone, treasurer. Mr. Walter Kaiser, assistant professor of Accounting, is moderator of the club.

Senior members of the Accounting Association are Joe Fricker, Art O'Neill, Dom Salerno, James McGlone, Joseph Albright, Richard Bowers, Ronald Deery, Vincent Del Gatto, Frank Dennehy, Joseph Doyle, William Drake, Fred Duden, Angelo Durso, Frank Ganiszewski, Joseph Hering, John Hunt, James Ledwith, Paul Macey, Joseph Martin, Joseph Oesterle, Robert Richards, George Ritchie, John Roth, Joseph Stezzi, Rudy Tippenhauer, John Young, Tom Callahan, and John Walsh.

The Marketing Association continued its program of presenting films and guest speakers in the field of Marketing at regular meetings throughout the past year. The group also held numerous social activities during 1953. Marketing Association officers were Francis Taylor, president. Anthony Carney, vice-president; Bernard McColgan, secretary; and Thomas McKenny, treasurer. Mr. George Swoyer, assistant professor of Marketing, moderated the group.

Marketing

Association

S. A. M.

Under the leadership of its president, Ed Guertin, the La Salle chapter of the Society for the Advancement of Management continued its active program during the past year. A series of films on various phases of industry, attendance at student conferences, and lectures by the outstanding industry experts of the area were all part of SAM's extensive schedule.

For the second year the principal project of the club was its Career Forum. The program for the forum included general lectures in the college auditorium and panel discussions in Benilde Hall. At the conference prominent Philadelphia industrialists explained job opportunities. The activities of the chapter came to a close with the annual Student Night Dinner.

The other officers of the Society for the Advancement of Management were James Traum, vice-president; Ed Hurley, treasurer; and Harris Freedman, secretary. One of the guiding hands for the smooth working activities of the organization was its moderator, Dr. Bernard B. Goldner, associate professor of Industry.

Sociology Club

One of the more recently formed campus organizations but yet one of the largest and most active is the Sociology Club. Among the activities of the organization during the past school year were a trip to the Princeton University Population Center where members conducted a study, a Cana Conference, two Marriage and the Family discussion panels, regular lecture meetings, and many field trips to various institutions dealing with the field of Sociology.

The group also formed two committees to take up specific projects. One committee collected questionnaires from graduates of La Salle College for the past five years in order that the club could study how men in the field of Sociology obtained job opportunities after graduation. The other committee gathered a great deal of vocational information along with material on graduate schools in Sociology.

The program of the organization was brought to a close with a social at the end of the year. The officers of the Sociology Club are Frank Monahan, president; John Bradley, vice-president; Americo Manieri, secretary; and Francis Montague, treasurer. Mr. Donald Barrett, assistant professor of Sociology, is moderator of the group.

MR. WILLARD WALSH

JAMES SANZARE

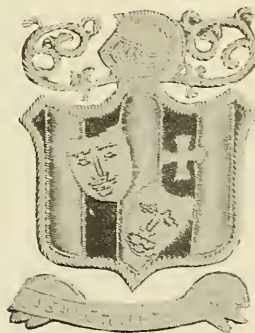

FRANK PERRI

CHARLES SMITH

JOHN BRADLEY

CARL BELBER

During the last five years the La Salle College Theatre has made rapid progress under the direction of Mr. Willard G. Walsh, Jr. The last season produced two smash hits in "Detective Story" and "Lucky For Me." At the beginning of the 1952-53 season Mr. Walsh announced the formation of a Theatre Council to assist him in determining theatre policy and planning productions. Vincent D'Andrea, Frank Perri, James Sanzare, Charles Smith, Carl Belber, and John Bradley were appointed to the Council and were awarded blazers with the theatre insignia. D'Andrea has been responsible for music and design for various theatre productions. Perri appeared in "Harvey," "Winterset," and "Detective Story." He also staged a production and acted as assistant director for numerous productions. Sanzare has been a member of the theatre longer than any other student, having started in his freshman year. He served as director of publicity and was also responsible for art work and the outdoor sign. Smith played the lead role in "Winterset" and had a part in most of the productions for the last two years. Belber appeared in "Harvey," "Winterset," "St. La Salle," "The Blunderer," and "Detective Story." He also worked on programs. Bradley was house manager for the theatre productions for the last two years. He did much to provide physical comfort for theatre patrons.

The insignia of the La Salle College Theatre was modeled on the shield of St. John Baptist de La Salle. In red and gold it contains the theatre mask and a cross. The motto of the La Salle College Theatre is "Catholic Action Through Catholic Theatre."

The theatre opened its 1952-53 season with "Detective Story" on December 10, 11, 12. The production was the greatest hit in the history of the theatre as standing room only was the cry for the three evenings the play was given. Frank Perri had the leading role in the show as Detective Jim McLeod. Eileen Scully had the leading female part. Seniors with roles were Anthony Polcino as Lieutenant Monahan and Robert Bolsover as Keough. The entire production was under the direction of Mr. Walsh, assisted by the Theatre Council. Dr. John Guisnard was chairman of the ticket committee and John McCrane was stage manager. Because of the December showing of "Detective Story" the number of plays given during the season was limited to two. In former years three or four productions were offered by the theatre.

Getting over to the lighter side, the College Theatre presented a new musical, "Lucky For Me," as its season's closing production. The gay musical with Philadelphia as its background was written by Dan Rodden, assistant professor of English at La Salle College. The presentation in the auditorium marked the Philadelphia premiere for the show. It was formerly presented in Chicago and Washington. The musical ran April 29, 30, and May 2, 3, 4 to a capacity crowd. Robert Bolsover played the lead role as Weeje in the production and Natalie Maranesi had the main female part. It was the second straight year that Bolsover was given the lead part in the La Salle Theatre's musicals. Last year he starred in "Watch the Curtain." "Lucky For Me" was directed by Mr. Walsh and staged by Mr. Rodden.

Mr. Willard G. Walsh goes over plans for the stage with two members of the theatre staff in the Theatre Office. The unusual proportions of the auditorium stage demanded special preparation for show productions.

The General Committee for "Lucky for Me" met in the college library regularly to assure the success of the production. Permanent Committee members for all shows were Mr. Walsh, the Theatre Council, Miss Peggy Bender, of Public Relations and Dr. John Guisnard.

Sigma Beta Kappa

Sigma Beta Kappa was organized on November 29, 1943 as a social fraternity at St. Bernard College, St. Bernard, Alabama. Its purpose is twofold. First, to establish a solid basis of true friendship among its members and to foster the development of character and campus leadership by instilling a strong sense of Christian morality in its members. Second, each daughter chapter of Sigma Beta Kappa shall adopt some phase of Catholic Action as its secondary purpose.

In the spring of 1947 Kurt Lowe and Mr. John Kennedy, first president and moderator respectively at La Salle, and national officers of SBK began laying plans for the establishment of the Gamma Chapter at La Salle College. From a large group who answered the initial call thirty charter members were chosen and elected Lowe their president. A charter was framed, and approved by the administration and the national president. Gamma Chapter of Sigma Beta Kappa was now established at La Salle College.

Stags, parties, worms, sporting events, dances, meetings, picnics, aiding St. John's Orphanage, and a spirit of friendship seem to best describe the program of SBK on campus during the past year.

The fraternity began its 1952-53 schedule of events with a picnic at a Boyertown farm. After the picnic the group held Friday evening get-togethers where the frat brothers enjoyed friendly conversation and fun. On November 26 SBK held its traditional Thanksgiving Dance at the Whitmarsh Country Club. A capacity crowd filled the orange and black decorated ballroom. On December 12 a Toy Dance was held in the Student Lounge. Admission to the social was by toys which were donated to St. John's Orphanage. The Toy Dance was followed a week later by the annual fraternity party for the children at St. John's Orphanage. Over 500 toys, ice cream, and candy were given to the children. SBK also presented awards to the winning sports teams at the orphanage that same evening.

The popular Mardi Gras was held on February 13 at the Whitmarsh Country Club. Over two hundred couples danced to the music of Tommy Varrone and his orchestra. A committee of five faculty members selected the Mardi Gras Queen. The fraternity conducted a smoker on February 26 which introduced the pledges to the members and started the "worms" off on the two week hazing period.

The annual Sigma Beta Kappa Communion Breakfast was held as usual on Palm Sunday. Seventy members of the fraternity attended the Mass and breakfast. Guest speaker at the breakfast was Brother Andrew of Manhattan College. Another picnic was held on April 19 with the final fraternity activities coming to a close on May 14. A dinner-dance was held at Bala Country Club with Tommy Varrone and his orchestra supplying the music for the dance. Eighty members of SBK and their guests saw new members installed into the frat at the dinner-dance.

The officers of SBK for 1952-53 were John Magee, president; Richard Ryan, vice-president; Earl Woods, secretary; and Joseph Oesterle, treasurer. Brother E. Cyril is moderator of the group.

Education Society

On May 15, 1950, fifty years after his canonization by Pope Leo XIII, St. John Baptist De La Salle, was declared Patron of All Teachers of Children and Youth by Pope Pius XII. In proclaiming him patron His Holiness said in part, "John Baptist De La Salle once educated the young, and still, through the society founded by him, continues to do so according to excellent principles and methods. Moreover, to train teachers for their important mission he established colleges which catered especially to village schoolmasters. The origin of training colleges for teachers must truly be attributed to him."

The Education Society was founded on campus in order to provide students majoring in Education an opportunity to secure further information on their study. Leading educators of the Philadelphia area addressed the society at monthly meetings.

Joseph Morrison was president of the Education Society. The other officers were David Rosania, vice-president; Robert Lynch, secretary; and Robert Richards, treasurer. Brother F. Azarias, Associate Professor of Education, is moderator of the group.

Glee Club

Performances before the Archbishop at the Cathedral, annual Winterlude Whirl Dance, and the traditional Spring Concert were the major activities of the La Salle College Glee Club during the 1952-53 school year. The success of the inspiring renditions by the musical group was due to the able direction of Reverend William Sailer, who has been associated with the Glee Club during the last four years.

John Mallon was president of the Glee Club. Other officers were John Daley, vice-president; Richard Clancy, treasurer; Francis Griffin, secretary; Vincent Kelleher, librarian; and John Kulak, historian.

Senior members of the Glee Club were Robert Bolsover, Francis Gavigan, Ted Groody, Lawrence Nicastro, Richard Threlfall, John Rakszawski, Charles Smith, and Joe Dolen. Brother M. Robert is moderator of the club.

Weber Society

The Herbert S. Weber Society held regular informal gatherings throughout the year in the homes of instructors and students. The purpose of the organization is the discussion of English literature. Many prominent speakers participated in the monthly meetings. Don Gates was president of the group. Other officers were John Keenan, '52, vice-president; John Coulson, secretary; and Charles Day, treasurer. Senior members were Francis Duffy, Robert Lynch, John Magee, Paul McGinnis, and Vincent D'Andrea. The Weber Society sponsored a program of "fine films" which were presented twice monthly in the College library.

A large group of students interested in furthering their knowledge of Philosophy gathered regularly at meetings of the Philosophy Club. As would be expected, the get-togethers proved interesting and thought-provoking. The officers of the organization were Joe Squire, president; Bernard McColgan, vice-president; James Hannahan, secretary; and George Ritchie, treasurer. Senior members of the group were Frank Aiello, John Brady, Tom Conville, Dick Exley, Jules Fiorvanti, Jim McGettigan, Tom McKenny, Frank Monahan, Ken Rapchick, Robert Stout, Joe Adams and Edward Saunders. Dr. James Keleher, assistant professor of Philosophy, was moderator of the club.

Philosophy Club

Praefectus Club

The Praefectus Club is probably the smallest but perhaps one of the most important organizations on campus. It is composed of the student managers of the various sport teams. The group was headed by President Tom Mazza. Other officers were Jerry Gawronski, vice-president, and Ted Bronson, secretary. Al Avallon, Bill Kaser, Bob Lenox, John Moosebrugger, Charles Samtmann, and Thomas Sottile were also in the Praefectus Club. Mazza, Gawronski, Samtmann and Sottile were senior members. Mr. James Henry, director of Athletics, was moderator of the group.

Varsity Club

The Varsity Club is open only to students who have earned letters in the sports program at La Salle. The purpose of the organization has been of a social nature. Its main social event is the annual "Ytisrav Bulc" (that's Varsity Club backwards) dance and party at the boat house. The organization also sponsors an annual "Lettermen's Day" when graduate members of the club are feted. The Varsity Club has also been responsible for organizing the College cheerleaders. Mr. Joseph Kirk, swimming coach, was moderator of the organization.

OFFICERS AND MODERATOR

From the shores of France and as near as Chester, Pennsylvania come students that make up the Out of Towners Club. Founded in 1947 the organization offers a medium through which students may cultivate new friendships in a strange environment. The activities of the club are mainly social. Among the traditional events of the Out of Towners are the Welcome Back Party held at the beginning of every school year, Thanksgiving Day Party, Valentine's Day Party, annual Christmas Party, April Fool's Day Party, St. Patrick's Day Party, the annual Spring Picnic, and the annual Senior Party. Sports also play a large part in the Towners' activities. The club has entered a team in every intramural sport and this past year came up with the basketball championship.

High on the list of activities during the 1952-53 school year were Theatre Night and a trip to New York when a bus was hired to take the spirited Out of Towners to see the Explorers in the NIT games. On Theatre Night the group reserved a section of the auditorium for members to see "Lucky For Me." The play was followed by a dance in the Student Lounge.

The main reason for the continued success of the Out of Towners during the past two years has been its energetic president, Nick Gianoulis. Nick has been the sparkplug behind the popular programs of the Towners which have always been the envy of other campus organizations.

The other officers of the Out of Towners were Robert Van Lede, vice-president; Charles McGovern, secretary; James McGonigle, treasurer; and Louis LeHane, corresponding secretary. Brother F. Francis is moderator of the organization.

In the pages of the 1953 "Explorer" the members of the yearbook staff have attempted to picture the expansion and growth of La Salle College since the Freshman Year of the Class of '53. The extensive building program, the increase of campus clubs and societies to a new high of thirty, and the growth of sports to eleven different teams have all taken place in the last four years.

The 1953 "Explorer" is the history of the Class of '53 and also the story of the growth of La Salle College.

The Editor and Staff of the yearbook were proud to be able to produce the annual book which covered La Salle College's great growth.

The yearbook staff thanks all those who cooperated in the publication of the book—the administration, the brothers, the lay faculty, the senior class and the other members of the student body.

Bart Brooks was responsible for coordinating the various sections of the 1953 "Explorer." He was the man who guided the yearbook from the first general meeting in October to the distribution day. Bart personally planned the introduction, administration, and faculty sections of the annual along with offering invaluable aid to the activities, senior and sports editors.

Jim Sanzare planned the activities section of the 1953 yearbook. He was responsible for the picture layout and the preparing of copy material from the programs and activities of more than thirty organizations on the La Salle campus.

Charlie Day collected the activity information from all the members of the Senior Class. He planned the senior section which meant laying out pages for approximately 225 day students and 100 evening seniors.

John Zaccaria planned the sports section of the yearbook. He was responsible for presenting the eleven sport activities on campus in an attractive manner.

Above: Brother E. Clementian has been the guiding figure behind the publication of yearbooks at La Salle for many years. His invaluable aid and advice played an important part in the 1953 edition of the annual.

Below: Business Managers Jim Mallon and Joe Oesterle go over the financial problems of the yearbook. The two seniors managed the work of the class representatives.

Activities: Jim Sanzare, Associate Editor, goes over final layouts of the activities section with assistants Jack Mangan and Tom Mazza.

Liturgy Club

The sponsoring of various religious programs and regular informal meetings constituted the activities of the Round Table on Liturgy during the past year. At the informal meetings held in the Brothers' Parlor different phases of Church liturgy were discussed. The largest program promoted by the Liturgy group was a Rosary Day on October 23. The Rosary was recited throughout the day at the Shrine of Our Lady of Lourdes. Members of the administration and faculty led the students in prayers. The Round Table also conducted complin every Tuesday in the College chapel. The active program for the Round Table on Liturgy can be credited to Carl Von Nell, its chairman, and Brother D. John, its moderator.

Gavel Society

The Gavel Society continued its heavy debating schedule during the past year. Major events were the West Point Tournament held in Pittsburgh, where thirty colleges participated in the debate, and the Brooklyn debate, when sixty-seven colleges participated. The Explorer debating group also travelled to Fredericksburg, Virginia. Approximately fifty debates were conducted during the year. Outstanding and senior member of the Debating Society was Carter Collins. President of the group was Joseph O'Brien. Mr. Eugene Fitzpatrick was moderator.

ROTC

LT. COL. JAMES F. UNGER

The ROTC uniform has become a familiar sight on the Twentieth and Olney campus since the start of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps program in 1950. The initial enrollment was 185 students. In September 1951 there were 290 students enrolled and during the past school year approximately 400 students were in the ROTC. Along with the regular courses of instruction the ROTC holds three important events each year. On December 2 the cadets attend a special Mass in honor of St. Barbara, patron of the Artillery. The other activities are an annual inspection and the Military Ball.

In the field of extra-curricular activities the ROTC offers students participation in a Rifle Team, now an official part of the sports program, the Drill Team, and the ROTC Band. The ROTC also sponsors the Caisson Club which has the purpose of maintaining a high standard of military education in school and to encourage and foster the essential qualities of good and efficient officers. It is limited to upperclassmen.

Another feature of the ROTC program is the annual summer encampment for all the members of the corps.

Five members of the Class of '53 have been a part of the ROTC program and received commissions in 1952 as Second Lieutenants in the Artillery. Richard Bowers received a Regular Army Commission while John L. Smith, John J. Jarecki, Americo Manieri, and William Kohler received Reserve Commissions.

The Reserve Officers' Training Corps has been under the guidance of Lieutenant Colonel James F. Unger, Professor of Military Science and Tactics, since its inception at La Salle College.

Class of '53 History

FRESHMAN YEAR

An incoming Freshman Class of four hundred students completed a two-week period of orientation and were ready for regular classes on September 25, 1949. Brother George Thomas, Dean of Freshmen, was moderator of the Class of '53 for its initial year. . . . The popular Student Loan Fund was started by the campus committee of the National Students Association. Len De Santis, '53, was a member of the original committee on loans. . . . Tony Marsh and his orchestra furnished the music for a Freshman Get-Together Dance on Friday evening, March 25. A "Hello Pal" theme was adopted for the social. General Chairman for the Class of '53's first dance was Anthony Polcino. . . . The Freshman Basketball Team opened its season with the names of Norm Grekin, Tony Carney, Bob Wadlinger, Jack George, Fred lehle, Jack D'Donnell, Dick Breen, and Fred Ley on the roster. . . . Eighty-three per cent of the Freshman Class turned out for the voting on class officers. Bart Brooks, Pete Finley, John Baker, and Joe Oesterle were elected president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer, respectively. . . . The Freshman Spring Formal was held on June 10 at the Germantown Cricket Club.

SOPHOMORE YEAR

On October 26 and 27 the Sophomores went to the polls to elect officers. The election committee in an unprecedented move declared the election for the office of president invalid because it did not poll the necessary two-thirds. The other three officers polled the necessary vote and Jerry Ryan, Jim Sanzare, and Joe Oesterle were elected vice-president, secretary, and treasurer respectively. At its next meeting Student Council reversed the election committee and Len De Santis became Sophomore president. . . . In November Mr. Daniel Rodden, Assistant Professor of English, was appointed moderator of the Class of '53. . . . On Friday evening, December 15, the class held a memorable stag party at the Fairmount Boat House. The stag opened the social season for the year. . . . "The Sophomore," news bulletin of the Class of '53, also made its appearance in December. . . . In the spring term the Sophomore Rosary was conducted every Tuesday from 12:30 to 12:45 P.M. in the College chapel. . . . John McGuigan won the role of St. John Baptist De La Salle in the theatre's production of the life of St. La Salle. . . . Charlie Day was appointed National Chairman of the Interracial Justice Commission in April. . . . The Soph Directory made its appearance in early April. . . . Dick Kincaid received the lead in the "Mikado" presented by the theatre. . . . The Soph Spring Dance was held on May 4 at Eddington Farms. Mike Montemuro was Spring Dance chairman. . . . Charlie Day and Jim Sanzare were selected as La Salle College's delegates to the eighth National Congress of the National Federation of Catholic College Students. The congress was held at the College of St. Thomas in St. Paul, Minnesota. . . . Elections for class officers for the Junior year were held in late May. Len De Santis, Mike Montemuro, Jim Sanzare, and Jim Mallon ran unopposed. Because of the unusual ballot a "yes" or "no" choice was placed after the name of each candidate. De Santis polled 171 yes votes, 21 no votes. Monte-

JUNIOR YEAR

In October the Junior Class formed its Advisory Board. . . . Charlie Smith got the lead role as Mio in the theatre's production of "Winterset." . . . Brother M. Edward succeeded Mr. Rodden as moderator of the Class of '53. . . . In February the Juniors took over the publication of the "Collegian." The Junior editorial staff was composed of Editor-in-Chief Jim Sanzare, Associate Editor Jack Mangan, Sports Editor John Zaccaria, Feature Editor Vince D'Andrea, and Business Manager Jim Ledwith. . . . In April the Junior Week Committee was formed. John Costello and Jules Fiorvanti were appointed co-chairmen of Junior Week festivities. Junior Week opened with a Communion Breakfast on Sunday, May 4. The traditional softball game between La Salle's Junior Class and Chestnut Hill's Junior Class took place at the Hill on May 6. The girls won the game! In the evening a Hay Ride was held at the Hunt Club Riding Academy. The ride was followed by a doggie roast and dance. On May 7 a Monte Carlo Night and informal social were held in Leonard Hall. A Junior Class-Faculty softball game was held on the campus on Thursday afternoon, May 8. The faculty tripped the Juniors 39-25. The faculty had thirty-nine runs and fifty-five hits. The Juniors made twenty-five runs on fifty hits. The game was marked with numerous interruptions. Strange as it seemed it usually took a faculty member about three minutes to run from third base to home. The Juniors pounded the faculty in the first five innings, leading 18-11. However, Joe Grassi succeeded Mike De Angelis on the mound for the teachers and held the Juniors to ten runs and twenty-two hits for the remainder of the game. Mr. Cleary and Mr. McCloskey hit homers for the faculty while McGlone, Groody, and Deery blasted the ball out of the park for the students. Junior Week closed on May 10 with the Junior Prom at the Philadelphia Cricket Club. . . . On May 14 Pete Finley was elected president of Student Council. At the end of the school year four new officers were elected for the Senior year. Joe Freeman, Lou Masucci, Joe Squire, and Frank Aeillo were elected president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer respectively.

SENIOR YEAR

Charlie Day was elected vice-president of the National Federation of Catholic College Students at the ninth national congress. Bill Kohler also attended the meeting. . . . The yearbook staff was formed with Bart Brooks as Editor-in-Chief. . . . In October Frank Perri was given the lead role as Detective McLeod in "Detective Story." . . . Bob Bals-over had the lead in a new musical presented by the theatre on April 29, 30 and May 2, 3, 4. The show was "Lucky For Me," written by former Class of '53 moderator, Mr. Rodden. . . . The Senior year slipped by quietly without much activity until Senior Week. . . . Final exams came during the last week of May. . . . On Tuesday, June 9, the Baccalaureate Mass was held and on Wednesday evening, June 10, the Class of 1953 was graduated.

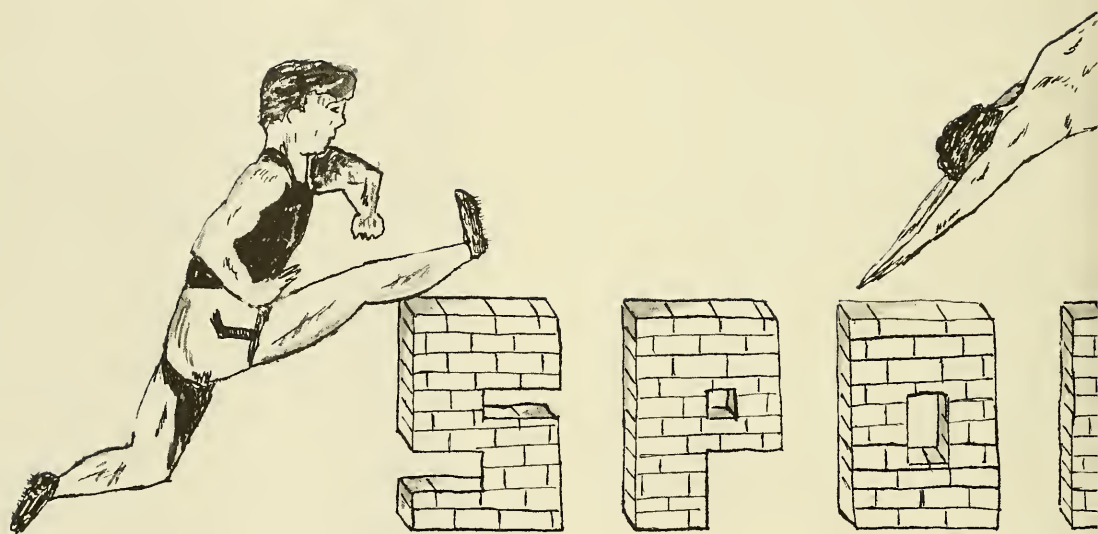

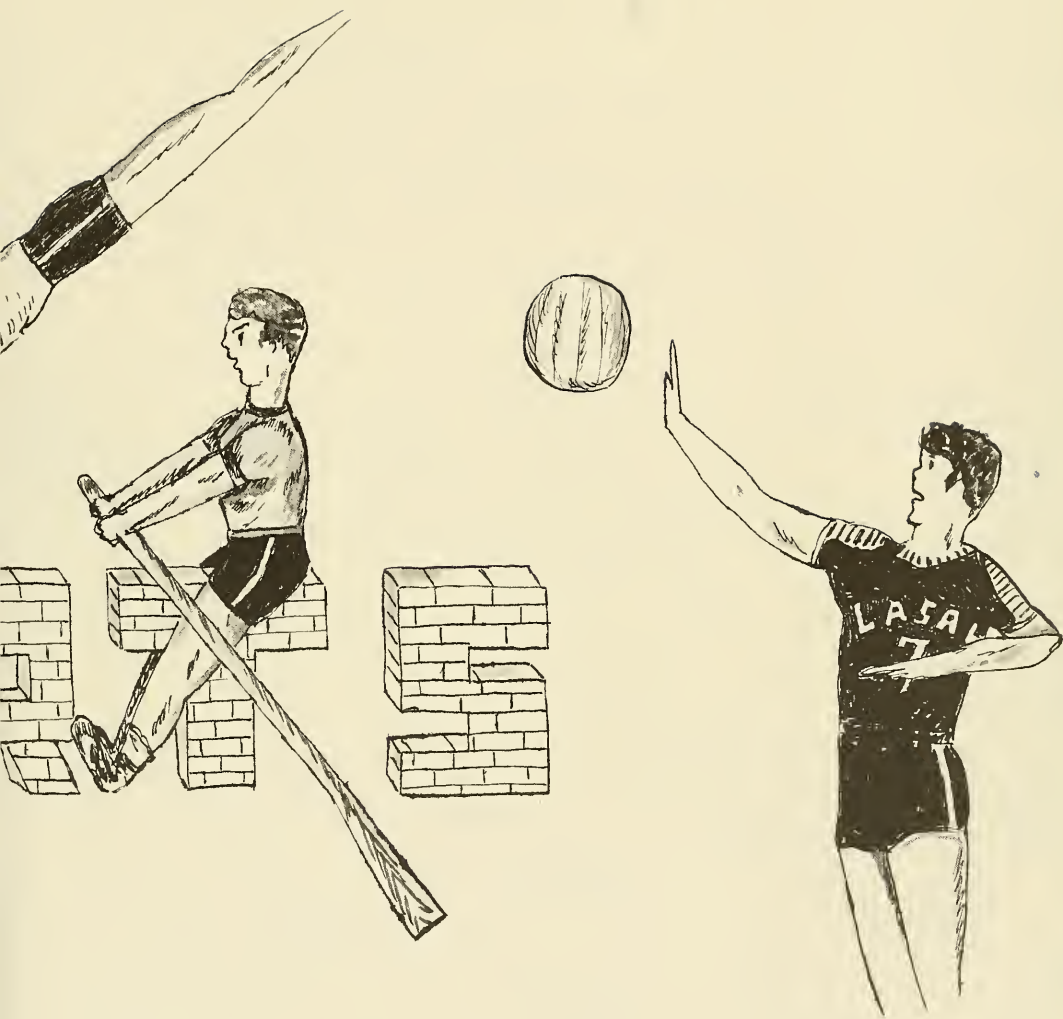

Top: Every year during Holy Week the Student Retreat was conducted for three days in the College auditorium. The Retreat was concluded with Mass and Communion and outdoor Benediction.

RUN DOWN ON THE SEASON

The 1952-53 basketball season, La Salle's 51st in intercollegiate competition, saw the Explorers achieve the greatest regular season in record in the College's illustrious court history.

Before the season opened, La Salle was widely recognized as a top power in the nation. Many of the experts, after considering the fact that the Explorers had won the NIT the previous year with a squad composed mainly of underclassmen, selected La Salle as tops on the totem pole.

Throughout the season, the Explorers made sages out of the crystal-gazers as the Blue and Gold was hoisted in victory twenty-five times and lowered to half-mast only twice.

Fred Iehle, La Salle's sensational sharp-shooter, goes high in the air against Millersville in the opener of the Explorer court season.

At the conclusion of the regularly scheduled run of bookings, La Salle was invited to bring its star-studded cast to the National Invitation Tournament.

It was not by accident that the Explorers justified their high rating and tournament bid. The team of 1952-53 was the greatest basketball team La Salle has ever had; the coaching of Ken Loeffler was masterful.

The abundance of talent in the persons of All-American Tom Gola, Norm Grekin, Fred Iehle, Jackie Moore, and Frank O'Hara on the first squad, and Bill Katheder, Ed Altieri, Jack French, Joe Gilson, Jim Warrington, and Bob Smith among the reserves, was the keynote in La Salle's triumphs.

The masterminding of coach Loeffler complemented the ability

Bill Katheder attempts to put a little more punch into the slow-moving game with Temple. Harry Silcox of the Owls doesn't want to take it lying down.

In the Wake Forest game, Jim Warrington puts on a flashy exhibition of dribbling to free himself from the barrier thrown up by the Deacons.

of the players and the result of the dynamic combination was team power.

That power was to be asserted early in the season as the Explorers pummeled Millersville, 83-38, defeated Niagara, 87-76, in Buffalo, walloped Albright in Reading, 101-62, and did the same to West Chester, 111-62, at home.

Following this quartet of games, the Explorers took off on their tough Western trip. They defeated Dayton in overtime, 73-64, defeated Southwest Missouri, 77-72, trounced Arizona, 87-68, had a game with Santa Clara cancelled because of a wet floor, and finished the jaunt by up-ending Stanford, 95-80.

Fred Iehle, All-City choice for the second year in a row, lets fly with one of his patented jump shots against powerful Duquesne.

Up! Up! And away! Wacky O'Hara gets off a shot against Muhlenberg in the first collegiate game played in Lincoln High School's gymnasium.

Displaying his tremendous rebounding ability, Jackie Moore soars high into the air to clear the boards against Stanford. La Salle defeated the Indians, 95-80.

The little man still plays a big part in basketball. La Salle's little man, 5'9" "Wacky" O'Hara gets off a shot despite the efforts of Duquesne's 6'7" Jim Tucker.

Temple's John Kane goes up into the air in a blocking attempt. Too bad the shot was an under-hand flip by Norm Grekin, a two-time All-Philadelphia choice.

Returning to the East to participate in the Holiday Tourney, La Salle dropped its first of the season to De Paul, 63-61, but defeated Cincinnati, 86-81, and N.Y.U., 80-63. The great Tom Gola was selected the top player in the tourney.

Back in Philadelphia, the Explorers topped Wake Forest, 76-59, and Loyola, 89-47. In Allentown, La Salle humbled Muhlenberg, 97-77. In New York once again, the Explorers defeated tough Manhattan, 63-52.

In Chicago, De Paul once again pinned a defeat on La Salle, 68-62. Bouncing back, the Explorers clobbered St. Joseph's, 79-52, and turned back Eastern Kentucky, 89-67.

La Salle's rebounding mastery was greatly enhanced by the work of soph Bill Katheder. In this bit of action against Eastern Kentucky, Bill shows how high up he can go.

Everybody knows that Jackie Moore can really jump but here he proves he is just as capable on the floor as he goes around a Loyola defender in an early season game.

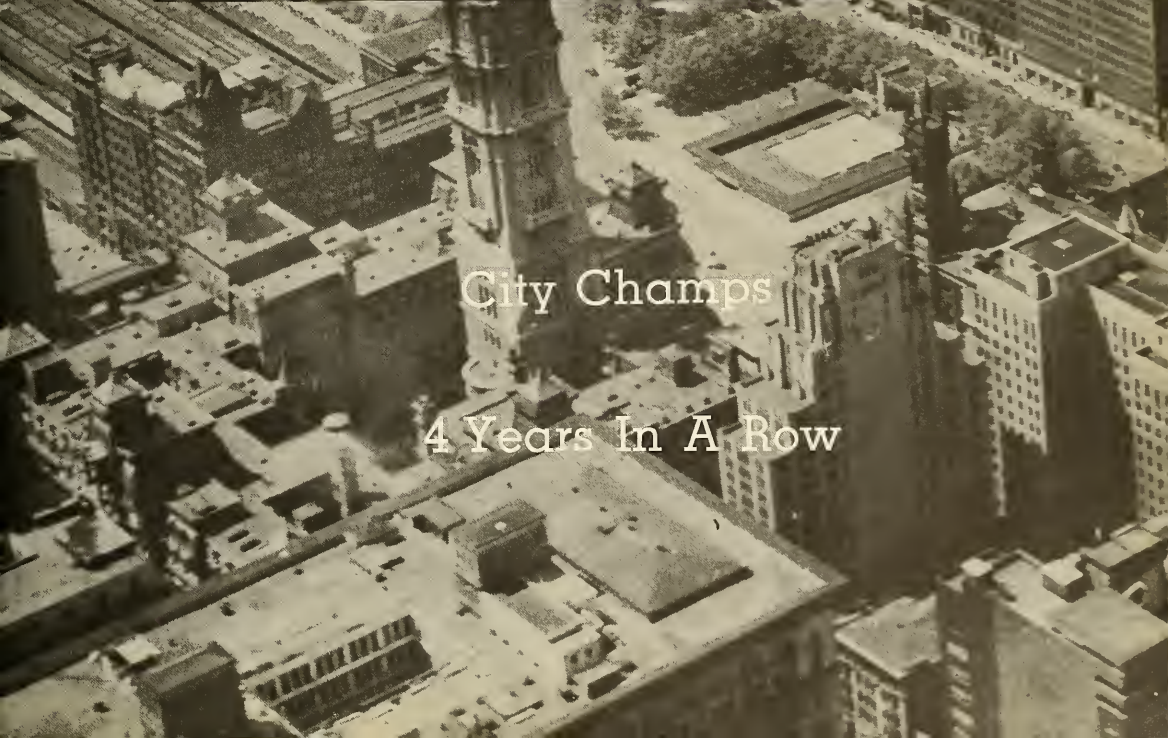

In Baltimore, Loyola fell to the Explorers, 73-61. Duquesne came into Philadelphia in one of the big games of the season and fell before the mighty Explorers, 74-66. St. Joseph's was again easy to handle, 75-63, but Temple was tougher even though the 57-42 score would not indicate such. Muhlenberg was the next victim, 106-73, to be followed by Georgetown, 73-68, in Washington, Lafayette, 56-50, in Easton, and Youngstown, 94-41, and Temple, 65-45, in the St. Joseph's Field House.

A great defensive effort by Stanford came too late as Norm Grekin gets away a flying jump shot. The Stanford contest capped an undefeated Western trip for La Salle.

This picture so perfectly demonstrates Tom Gola's tremendous drive, grace and coordination that we present it with only one comment: The Wake Forest player in the foreground is six feet tall!

City Champs

4 Years In A Row

JAMES J. HENRY

Mr. James J. Henry, the athletic director at La Salle College for the past 19 years, has been largely responsible for La Salle's emergence as a power in many sports.

When Mr. Henry took over his duties, La Salle was an unknown in sports. Soon, however, under the guiding hand of the athletic director, La Salle began to move upward quickly.

The Second World War put a large crimp in La Salle sports but following that period, Explorer athletes, benefiting by the athletic director's policies, began to gain national recognition.

Representatives from La Salle in sports like basketball, swimming, track, crew and baseball rose to the very top in collegiate circles. Many titles, some national in scope, were captured.

Mr. Henry, in the often thankless position of director of athletics, has capably guided La Salle's athletic endeavors and has raised the school to sports renown.

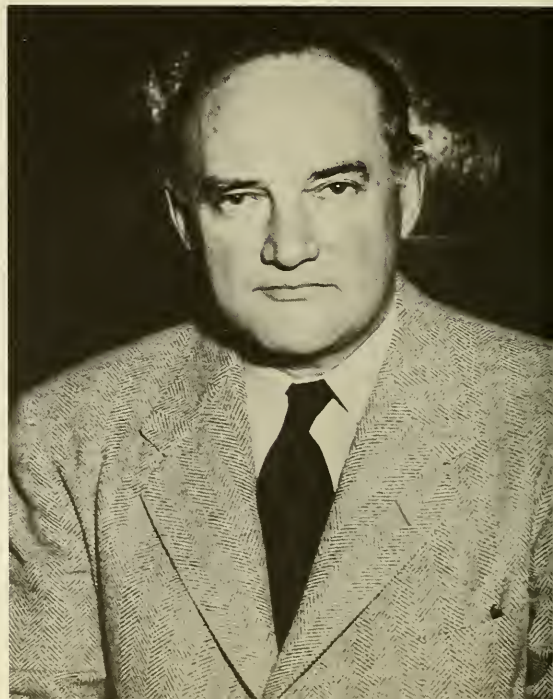

KEN LOEFFLER

Ken Loeffler and the Class of 1953 came to La Salle at just about the same time.

When the erudite Mr. Loeffler agreed to come to tutor the Explorers, he had behind him many years of coaching. He had worked successfully with teams like Yale among the colleges and the St. Louis Bombers among the pros.

The first thing Ken did at La Salle was to install a new system—one that stressed team balance. The success he has had is demonstrated by the remarkable 93 and 21 record he has compiled in four years. He has led the Explorers to participate in four years of NIT play and a championship in the tourney in 1952.

Looking at the record, it is easy to see that Ken Loeffler has established himself as one of the truly great coaches in the game of basketball.

Behind every road trip are countless hours of planning and preparation. The close cooperation of the athletic director, the coach and the trainer facilitate the arrangement of numerous details.

MARIO VETERE

Back in September, Mario Vetere took over the duties of trainer for athletic teams at La Salle. Immediately, Mario became a familiar figure on the campus.

He proved to be a popular person with everyone who knew him. While efficiently handling his tasks, Mario became one of the staunchest rooters for La Salle sports, especially basketball. He even became a sort of musical director on La Salle's trips. Mario is a handy man to have around.

Jubilation and high hopes reign as the Explorers come off the bench to cheer their teammates' play. The scene is Madison Square Garden.

These young ladies added the feminine touch to the rally. They claim they are the girls' team coached by Wacky O'Hara, but we're not too sure.

At the pep rally held before the NIT, team captain Wacky O'Hara promises the team will give its all to repeat as tourney champs.

In a solemn and impressive ceremony on the floor of Convention Hall, La Salle's traditional rival, the St. Joe's Hawk, is laid to rest. Requiescat in pace!

Tom Gola

All-American

For his magnificent play throughout the season, sophomore Tom Gola was universally proclaimed All-American. The first All-American in La Salle's history, Tom was chosen on "Sport" Magazine's first five even before the season started. Near the end of the season, the Associated Press, United Press, "Collier's" and International News Service all honored this youngster. New York sportswriters named him the outstanding player to appear in New York this year. Tom also shared the Robert Geasey Trophy, awarded by Philadelphia sportswriters to the outstanding college player.

In addition, Tom was chosen on the All-NIT, All-East, All-State, All-City, and Catholic All-America teams as well as making practically every all-opponent squad selected by the teams played by La Salle during the season.

Seniors

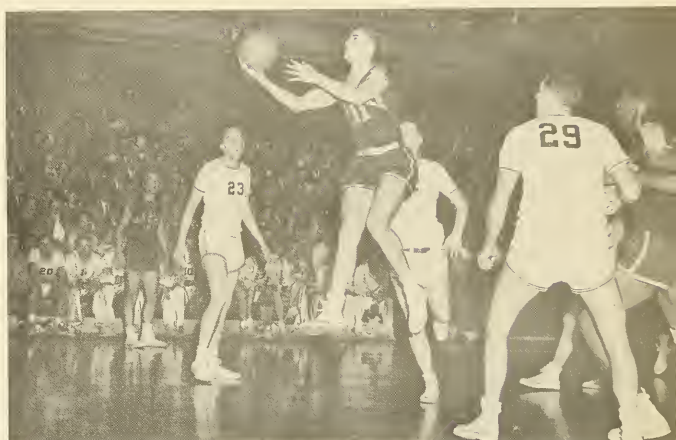

Norm Grekin is a natural. In the pivot, driving in, shooting from the outside, from the foul line, rebounding, running or jumping he is one of the best ball-players ever to wear the Blue and Gold. He is also probably the most underrated. Because he did not score fabulous point totals he was overlooked by many of the "all" teams picked by the sportswriters. He was not overlooked, however, by the men who know the game—the coaches. Norman is a coach's dream—a ball player who thinks. In addition to his physical abilities he plays the game with his brain. Extremely cool under pressure he has saved many tight ball games by his quick thinking. Only his teammates can tell you the effect of his steadiness and head's-up play when the pressure is on and the clock is running.

Fred lehle came to La Salle with a reputation for being a sensational one-man gang. His unerring eye and sure shooting had broken up many a ball game. At La Salle he continued his scoring antics, but he also developed into a tremendous all around competitor. In the last two years much of the offensive burden fell on Fred's shoulders. Opposing teams were constantly disheartened by his spectacular one hand sniping at crucial moments. His uncanny accuracy has led many coaches to name him the greatest shot in the game. Fred was not always the stellar performer he is now. He had to develop from a "hot-shot shooter" into a team player. His rise from an individual star to a vital part of a basketball juggernaut is evidence of his intestinal fortitude.

Ordinarily it is not possible to develop into a standout college player without a solid background of high school training and experience. Yet Jack French lacked both when he first donned the La Salle colors for the 1950 season. In competition with such veteran ball players as Norm Grekin and Fred lehle, he found he needed more than above-average height and a good shooting eye to win a starting berth. Nevertheless, as a reserve he saw lots of action and played creditable ball, showing improvement with each appearance. It takes courage and a great competitive spirit for a novice to vie with a master craftsman on such terms. It is certain that with more opportunities Jack would have been one of the greatest players in La Salle history. Even without these opportunities he still ranks close to the top.

Cross Country

George Dukes, captain of the 1951 cross-country squad, and Don Sharp, captain of the 1952 team, talk over La Salle's prospects before an Explorer meet.

The cross-country team began the 1952 season with a squad of experienced men. The squad consisted of seniors Don Sharp, captain of the team, and George Dukes, captain of the 1951 team, juniors Charley Harmon, Fred Geiter, John Joseph and Ralph Peterson, and sophs Earle Eldridge, Bill Dransfield and Joe Merkins.

The team dropped its opener to a strong St. John's squad, then placed second to St. Joseph's while defeating Haverford and Temple in a quad-regular meet. Powerful Georgetown defeated the Explorers and then came three wins over Lafayette, West Chester, and Temple. The Explorers closed the regular season with a loss to St. Joseph's and a win over Penn.

With nary an opponent in sight, three La Salle harriers, Earle Eldridge, in the lead, Charley Harmon, second, and Bill Dransfield, third, turn into the stretch during one of La Salle's home meets.

In the Middle Atlantic Championship meet, La Salle suffered a bad break when Merkins was forced to drop out. Nevertheless, the Explorers placed the highest in their history as they lost by only two points to St. Joseph's.

Close to the end of a long grueling grind the Explorers mount the hill on 20th Street. Out in front are Fred Geites, Joe Merkins and George Dukes, with Charlie Harman and Bob Smith close behind.

Rifle Team

John Harrell, stellar freshman, sets his sights on the target. Harrell was La Salle's top marksman throughout the successful season enjoyed by the Rifle Team.

La Salle's Rifle Team, composed of members of the Army R.O.T.C. unit at the College, completed its second year in competition with a fairly successful record of 40 victories and 55 defeats.

The overall record showed an improvement over last year when the Rifle Team had its inception.

Under the direction of Captain N. B. Pannell and Major B. A. Finkle, the marksmen met many top-flight opponents and performed creditably against them throughout the season. Many of the schools met by La Salle—Notre Dame and Tennessee, for example, were the top teams in their particular sections of the country.

In the Pennsylvania area, the team fared well, defeating such opponents as Penn, Temple, Scranton, Duquesne, Pitt and

P.M.C. in compiling an 11 and 9 log in the area.

Among teams outside the Pennsylvania sector defeated by La Salle were Kansas, Chattanooga, Wake Forest, North Carolina State, Michigan State and many other big schools.

For the whole season, La Salle's shooting average was 1770 out of a possible 2000. The high mark was 1821 and the low 1691, shot in the first match of the season.

The squad included juniors Bob Richards, the captain, John Birnbrauer, and Bill Wingel, all of whom were on the team last year. Sophs Tom Lucia, George Margraff, Bill Quigley, John Oros and John Bergen, and freshmen Jim Wilson, Jim Boyer and John Harrell rounded out the team. Harrell, outstanding as a rifler in high school, led La Salle throughout the season.

George Margraff, Bill Wingel, John Bergin, Bob Oros and John Birnbrauer get set to riddle targets with perfect scores as their object.

Soccer

From the sidelines coach Smith and manager Alex Avellone shout encouragement to the booters. Under Smith's coaching the young sport is rapidly becoming a major attraction at La Salle.

Ed Ciecka and Jake Rakowski seem to be away up in the air about something but we know that their heads up play will soon bring them back on the ball.

Back in September when Coach Joe Smith first issued a call for soccer candidates, it looked like the same old story for La Salle's soccer team—a good first eleven but very few reserves.

The picture began to change somewhat, though. More candidates than usual began to try out and soon the coach had enough men to work with. It looked as if the Explorers could have a fairly successful year in a sport that had its inception at La Salle only a few years earlier. And when all things are considered, the Explorers' record of three wins and five defeats amounted to a moderately successful season.

Just before the season opened, the team hopes were dealt a serious blow when it was learned that co-captain Joe Stezzi would be out of action for the entire year because of an attack of appendicitis. As the season unfolded, the loss of Joe's all-around adeptness proved to be an important factor.

The first team to meet the Explorers was Muhlenberg. In a fiercely-played contest, La Salle won out, 4-2. Tough Drexel was the next foe but the Explorers were victorious for the second time, 2-1.

La Salle then travelled to Easton to meet Lafayette. Again the Explorers were on the right side, winning 2-1. In a game with Ursinus, the Explorers were handed their first setback of the season, 2-0.

West Chester and Penn then pinned 5-0 defeats on La Salle. Elizabethtown upset the Explorers, 5-3, and in the season finale, La Salle bowed, 5-0, to the national champs of last year, Temple.

The play of seniors Frank Taylor, Rudy Tippenhauer, Ted Doyle, and co-captain Jake Rakszowski was outstanding. Jim Dolan, Jules Fiorvanti, Bill Kohler, and John Ciecka filled in admirably when called upon.

Three underclassmen who starred were Joe Maxwell, Bill Masterson and Ed Ciecka, a potential All-American.

Basil Andriuk has something to kick about as he winds up for a boot against Temple. La Salle dropped the mud-soaked contest 5-0 to last year's champs.

Standing: Frank Taylor, Rudy Tippenhauer, Jim Dolan, Bill Kohler, John Ciecka; kneeling: co-captains Joe Stezzi and Jake Rakszowski, Jules Fiorvanti, Ted Doyle. Stezzi's loss was a great blow to the team.

Two good reasons for the success of this year's swimming squad are co-captains John Geraghty and Jim McGlone, veterans of three years of varsity swimming competition.

Swimming

At the start of the swimming season, it was evident that outstanding individual performances would be needed if the team was to offset the lack of reserve strength. Realizing this fact, Coach Joe Kirk relied heavily upon the point-getting abilities of John Misura, who was outstanding throughout the season, Al Cantello, Alan Lee and co-captains John Geraghty and Jim McGlone.

The lack of a strong entry in the 400 yard freestyle relay event, the last event in a meet and also the one to which the most points are attached, was another difficulty. The Explorers had to win before this event or not at all. Four of the five losses sustained were lost in the freestyle relay. A further handicap was the loss, two-thirds of the way in the season of Lee, stellar backstroke and individual performer.

Alan Lee reaches for the wall as Dave Thomas prepares to take off on the breaststroke lap of the medley. Freestyler Joe Sommers looks on.

Al Cantello laid aside his javelin and took up the diving board to become the team's most consistent winner.

With all things considered, it is little short of remarkable that the mermen attained a log of six wins and five losses. The highlight of the season came when the Explorers traveled to Canada to McGill University. Other victories were gained at the expense of Temple, Franklin and Marshall, Lafayette, West Chester, and Drexel. The swimmers lost to Delaware, Virginia, Loyola, Penn, and Bainbridge NTC.

The captains receive some words of wisdom from Coach Joe Kirk who has been guiding Explorer teams for years with great success.

At the end of a long gruelling race John Misura receives the acclamations of the victor from Dave Thomas, George Haggerty, John Geraghty, and Jim McGlone.

Already a champion in one sport, Cantello proved his versatility by developing in only one short season into a polished and graceful diver.

The tremendous enthusiasm of the team was due in no small measure to John Misura's ability to keep his mates in high spirits.

George Mason, Bill Carr, John Gorman, Joe Sommers; Geraghty, Jim McGlone, Row: Dave Thomas, Marty

Swimmers work harder in practice sessions than in any meet. If you don't believe this, take a look at the happy expression of Haggerty, McLaughlin.

Crew

The Dad Vail champions, the greatest small college crew in the country—Dick Threlfall, Tom Conville, Al Farrell, John Bleacher, Larry Kelly, Bill Best, Jack Brady, Tom Doulis and Vince Della Valle.

Coach Tom Carran gives Captain Tom Conville and coxswain Dick Threlfall some instructions during a late afternoon practice session on the Schuylkill.

Seniors Tom Conville, captain, Jack Brady and Bill Best go through some conditioning exercises on the Boat House rowing machines before taking to the river.

The La Salle College Crew, under the guidance of veteran coach Tom Curran, has established itself in the last few years as one of the strongest rowing powers in the East as a result of its two successive victories in the Dad Vail Regatta, the race which decides the top small college crew in the United States. Boasting two legs on the trophy, the Explorer sweepswingers enter their 1953 campaign with serious hopes of copping the prized award.

Tom Conville, stroke, Jack Brady, bow, Tom Douglas, Number 3, and Dick Threlfall, coxswain are the returning starters from last year.

Men lost from the 1952 crew include Dick O'Brien, Bill Kieser, Herm Backe, George Hines and Tom McKenney. Although the crew has lost these five starters, the oarsmen have excellent prospects in Herman Bleacher and Al Farrell. Both of these men were high school rowing stars.

Last season, the varsity eight dropped only one of its races. That loss, to Rollins College, very early in the season, was avenged in the Dad Vail Regatta held in Boston. In the Regatta, the Explorers came through with a victory over eight crews, including such powers as Dartmouth, Brown, and Marietta.

The climax of the season this year for the Explorers will again be the Dad Vail. This year, the big race has been moved to Philadelphia and will be held on the Schuylkill River. Among La Salle's opponents before the Regatta will be traditional foes like Marietta, Rutgers, Dartmouth, and Brown.

The progress of the La Salle Crew over the years since the inception of the sport at the College has been amazing. In the past three years, the oarsmen have won sixteen races while dropping only six. An undefeated season this year would run the total to twenty-one wins. Seniors Tom Conville and Dick Threlfall have been participants in both Dad Vail victories and also in a highly successful freshman season in 1950.

Here's a view of the back of the La Salle Boat House, the quarters for the Explorer broadbacks and their boats.

Always right behind the Explorer oarsmen when they row on the river is senior Tom Mazza, crew manager.

The presses were held up long enough to enable the "Explorer" to present this picture of the powerful La Salle varsity crew in action. Scene of the race is the Marietta River on which the Explorers defeated Marietta College.

Last season, La Salle's track team enjoyed the finest year in its history. Led by their great captain, Jim Webb, the thin-clads finished the regular season undefeated and then capped the great season with a victory in the Middle Atlantic Championships held at Lehigh University.

In the big meet, Webb won the high jump with a record leap. Joe Walker, then a sophomore, was a double winner for La Salle, capturing the 100 and the 220. Al Cantello, freshman sensation of last season, won the javelin throw.

La Salle was also successful in the Penn Relays as Fred Geiter, Bill Quinn, Joe Fricker and John Manning won a class mile relay and Manning, Fricker, Walker and Charlie Peoples won the MAC mile relay crown.

This season, Coach Frank Wetzler will have back most of the team that did so well last year. The only man lost by graduation was Jim Webb. However, three men, Geiter, Tom Gallagher and Vince Gesiskie, have been lost to the service.

The returning lettermen promise to form a unit that will make a strong showing in defense of its Middle Atlantic crown.

Among the returning seniors are co-captains Joe Fricker and Charlie Peoples. Fricker is a strong middle distance runner while Peoples excels in the hurdles, the broad jump and in relay races. Joe Morrison is expected to be top-flight in the sprints as is Don Sharp in the distance runs. Tony Carney in the discus, Joe Martin in the shot put, and Alex Woodley in the pole vault are expected to pile up points in the field events.

Among the underclassmen returnees, Walker, Cantello, Earl Eldridge and Charley Harmon are outstanding. Bill Quinn, John Manning, "Turk" Maben and Bill Patterson can be counted on for strong support. Having them on the team gives Coach Wetzler outstanding performers and great depth.

Leading this year's fleetfooted and powerful track squad are co-captains Joe Fricker and Charley Peoples. Fricker and Peoples both piled up plenty of points for the Explorers throughout the season.

Here is Alex Woodley on his way over the cross bar. To Woodley fell one of the track team's most difficult jobs, replacing the great Jim Webb in the high jump.

The entire track team was rounded up long enough to do a little posing just before the Explorers left for a big triangular meet in Allentown.

La Salle's new coach, Frank Hoerst, uses a ball for a little visual demonstration as he talks over the Explorer diamond prospects with Captain Don O'Connor, star second baseman.

The 1953 edition of La Salle's diamond nine promises to be a topnotch contender for an NCAA berth in post-season play. Although hampered by the loss via graduation of such stars as pitchers Jim Covello and Herb McLaughlin, and the induction into the Army of slugging outfielder Joe Gallagher, the squad possesses such potentiality that it will have to be reckoned with. The team's immediate goal is to better last year's record of 13 wins and 4 defeats. The team is also hoping for more consideration from the NCAA and not merely a by-pass as was the case last season.

With the arrival of new coach Frank Hoerst, a former Philadelphia Phillies pitcher, a new spirit, never surpassed by a La Salle baseball team, has been instilled into the players.

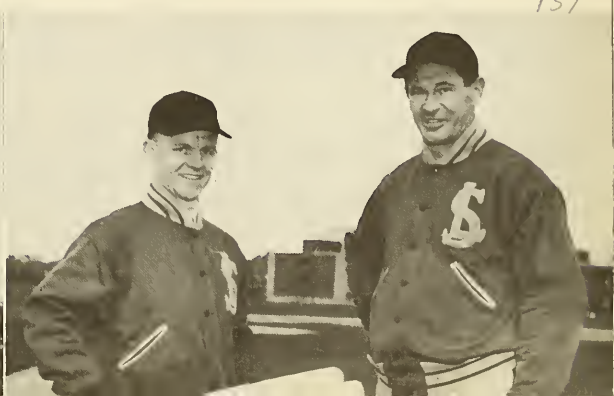

The new mentor, a graduate of La Salle, where he was outstanding in basketball as well as baseball, is a superior teacher of the diamond game. It is his intention to pass on to the players as much as possible the know-how acquired in major league baseball.

The team this season will be composed mainly of juniors and sophomores. Tom Sottile, the only senior returning from last year's squad, will hold down third base. The double play combination, possibly the best in La Salle's history, consists of shortstop Gene McDonnell and second baseman Don O'Connor, both of whom are sophs. The pitching chores will be handled by sophs Tom Lucia and Lew Griffin, both righthanders, and junior Bill DePace, a lefthander. Catching will be taken care of by Bernie Stuski. In the outfield, George McDonnell and Frank Finegan are the only returnees.

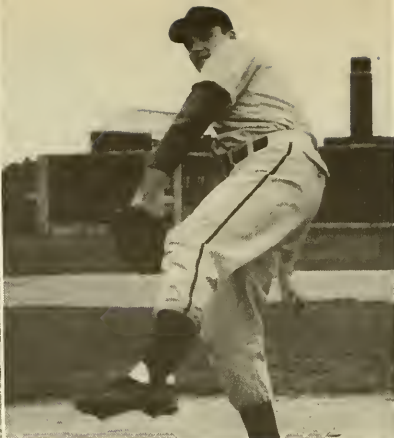

Seniors Jack French, Tom Sottile, Pete Finley and manager Charley Samtmann, standing, get together for a little pre-game horseshoe session.

La Salle's great double play combination of Gene McDonnell, shortstop, and Don O'Connor, second base, swings into action against Lafayette as the partially obscured McDonnell flips to O'Connor.

Pete Finley takes a throw in an attempted pick-off but the Lafayette base runner managed to get back in time.

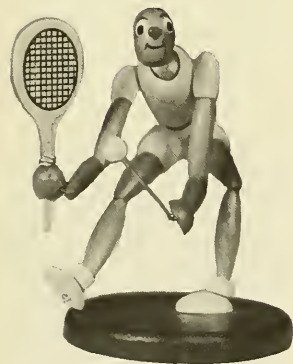

Captain Don O'Connor, who last year had a batting average of .341, connects for another solid smack. O'Connor maintained a fine hitting pace throughout the 1953 season.

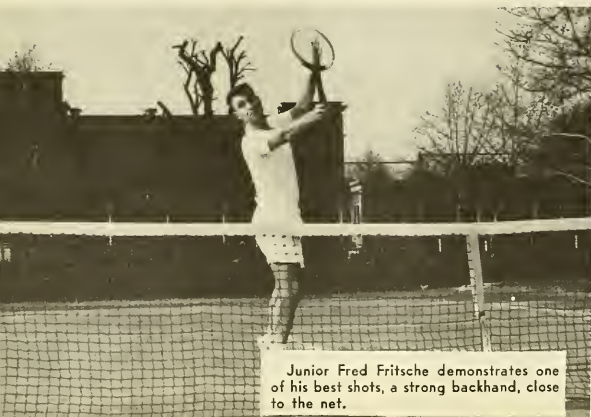

The seniors on La Salle's tennis squad line up at the net at the Rifle Club tennis courts. They are Ed McGlynn, Bob Van Lede, captain, and Charlie Day. Dave Reed, also a senior, is missing from the picture.

Tennis

Growth and experience are the keynotes of this year's tennis team. All eight members of the team are veterans. The four seniors on the squad, Captain Bob Van Lede, Dave Reed, Ed McGlynn and Charlie Day, are in their third year of competition on the La Salle varsity.

Experienced underclassmen who have won their letters include Al Mandajana, Dick Bolger, Fred Fritsche, and Chuck Mohacey. The squad, under the direction of veteran coach Art Condon, promises to amass the finest record in many a year.

Al Mandajana, one of the team's most consistent winners throughout the season, drives a hard forehand shot over the net.

Teammates watch Jack Watson send the ball flying toward the cup. Watson is the team's most consistent winner.

Golf

La Salle's golf team, under the direction of Robert Courtney, will again be meeting strong opponents from this area and throughout the Middle Atlantic States.

Heading the Blue and Gold squad this season will be three returning seniors, Bill Drake, Jerry Gawronski and Jack McGuigan. Backing up this trio will be juniors Rich Blaszczyk and Marty Kurlonis, both of whom are letter winners. Rounding out the squad is Jack Watson, a sensation as a freshman last season. Coach Courtney is depending on this veteran squad to come up with a winning season.

Bill Drake, Gerry Gawronski, and Jack McGuigan, the seniors on the 1953 La Salle golf squad, line up for a triple tee-off.

Intramurals

Jack French, Tom Sottile, John Maben, Tom Gola, Joe Walker and Ed Altieri plan a Rosemont super special twisting, leaping, double reverse.

Intramurals at La Salle, organized primarily for the benefit of those not engaging in intercollegiate athletics, went along all year with much spirited play and with a good deal of interest being shown. A sizable number of teams entered the football, basketball and softball activity, although the court aggregations were more numerous than the gridiron and diamond groups.

Back in October and November when the intramural football program was in full swing, some interesting, and grueling, battles took place before the champions of the leagues were crowned. The champs turned out to be a team with the unlikely name of Rosemont. The boys from Rosemont had to beat such clubs as the Out of Towners, Falcons, Teeny Weeny Tiny Tots, Chris Columbus, Sigma Beta Kappa and Wildcats for their title.

In the intramural basketball setup, the large number of teams entered in the competition necessitated a division into two leagues, the Blue and the Gold. When the regular season ended, the Out of Towners, runners-up in football, were on top in the Blue League and the defending champion Black Hawks led in the Gold League. In the big playoff game between the teams, the Out of Towners came off with the honors. The Out of Towners' Bill De Pace received the COLLEGIAN trophy awarded annually to the outstanding player in the championship game.

The intramural softball program blossomed forth in the spring and gave signs of producing some riotous baseball. Such teams as the All Stars, Hogans, Sigma Beta Kappa, Grubers, Bocci Ballers, Tiny Tots, Swoyer's Giants and Miscues vied for the diamond crown.

Paul Eisenstein of the Grubers is thrown out at first base in a bit of action during one of the Intramural Softball League games.

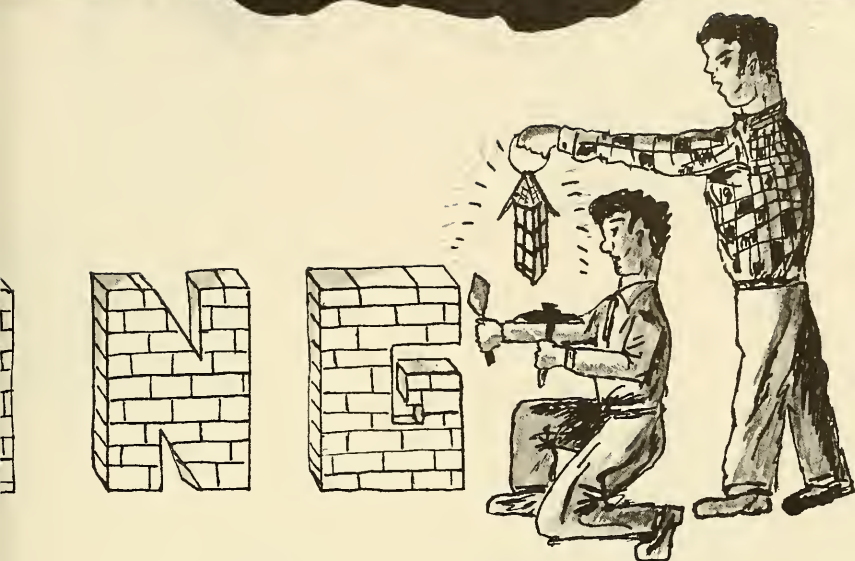

Bill De Pace, center, of the Out of Towners, receives the outstanding basketball player award from Ted Bronson and Joe Kirk, director of Intramurals.

It's a close play at home plate but the runner is safe as he slides in under the throw from the outfield.

The election of officers and the selection of a moderator by the Class of 1953 marks the first formal organization of a graduating class of the Evening Division. As the years go by the highlight of each graduate's senior year will bring back many delightful memories. The Second Annual Senior Dinner Dance was the highlight which added that touch of completeness to the many nights spent in evening classes. As the years go by time will take its effect on all of us but it will never dim our memories of our nights and our friends at La Salle College.

Since its inception in the Fall Term of 1949, the Student Congress of the Evening Division of La Salle College has accumulated a record of success and progress that is difficult to match in the history of student governing organizations. Starting with meetings in the summer of 1952 the members of Congress under the present administration began laying the groundwork for the activities of the then fast approaching school year. From the first until the last event of the year the members and their committees showed the same determination and energy which is responsible for its past, present, and by all indications, its future progress. Their work was well rewarded by the enthusiastic reception accorded to the activities by the student body of the Evening Division. The Spring Dance marks the close of the present administration's term—the close in time but not in the minds of all who were present at any of the activities. Now the students of the Evening Division can look to the undergraduates to progress in the future as the Congress of the past has progressed. It is up to time to confirm the visible indications of the energetic spirit of the Evening Division students.

Highlight of the affair as Dr. Sprissler and members of the committee and Student Congress distribute blue and gold ties to the Freshmen.

The activities of the Evening Division Freshman Week were brought to a successful conclusion with the presentation of the second annual "Tie Time Dance." The distribution of the blue and gold ties from which the dance derived its name was accomplished by forming a conga line led by Mr. Carrio, Spanish instructor. The success of this initial affair was a forecast of the coming activities of the Student Congress.

Stag

Within the walls of La Salle's Boathouse on a certain Friday in October, the students of the Evening Division held one of the most successful affairs of the year. Amid the noise and laughter of the persons playing such games as cards, darts, and pool, could be heard the music of the accordionists accompanied by the many talented student voices.

The committee was well rewarded by the large turnout of the Evening Division. All will attest to the well done job by John Raleigh and Edward Larkin, who handled the disbursement of refreshments in excellent fashion.

THE WINTER DANCE

The month of January ushered in not only a new year, but also provided one of the biggest social events of the Evening Division in its annual Winter Dance.

Staged at the beautiful Warwick Hotel, over 500 students danced to the musical strains of Chuck Gordon and his orchestra. The affair was adjudged an "exciting and breathless success."

General Chairman Joseph Keown, '54, and his committee began working on this affair in the middle of the summer of 1952. The net result is proof of what a well organized unit can achieve. But, the committee admits that the outcome of the function was not to be accredited to them, but to the solidarity of the students of the Evening Division. They tell the student body that the committee is doing the work so that others may reap the pleasure.

Wherever the bouquets of compliments may come to a rest, everyone in the entire Evening Division looks forward to the Winter Dance. It is generally regarded as a top-notch.

Joseph Keown, '54, Chairman, presents John Finley, '53, President of the Student Congress, with his class ring on behalf of the student body in recognition of "his efforts and energy in the building and progress of the Student Congress."

Sitting with the La Salle College group which attended the Malvern Retreat are Edward Dunphy, Chairman; Father Kane, Retreat Master; James Sammon, Retreat Captain; and Charles Boyce who, with Ed Dunphy, was named Associate Captain.

THE MALVERN RETREAT

Nearly two dozen students of the Evening Division joined the January 23rd week-end group at Malvern, Pa. to make their second annual retreat. After the finish, an announcement was made stating that Edward Dunphy, '54, and Charles Boyce, '56, were made associate captains. James Sammon, '53, captained the entire retreat, a distinguished position which he has also held in the past. The Adoration Society intends taking over the organization of this function and it is already their stated intention that they hope to make one retreat week-end at Malvern entirely for La Salle College.

BASKETBALL NIGHT AT CONVENTION HALL

One of the comparatively new functions of the Evening Division takes place at one of the home games at Convention Hall. The evening students take this opportunity to come out en masse to supply proof of their consistent support.

At this year's La Salle-Temple game on February 14, Charles Coyle, '55, chairmanned this event. It had a fine ending when La Salle overwhelmed Temple by a 57-42 count.

Before the game, Coyle presented La Salle's great coach, Ken Loeffler, with an award "in recognition for his outstanding efforts. The Student Congress sanctioned the presentation in behalf of the entire Evening Division student body.

Communion Breakfast

Father Heath, O.P., College Chaplain, celebrating the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass at the opening of the Communion Breakfast exercises.

The Second Annual Communion Breakfast was blessed with a beautiful spring day and a large congenial group.

The group in attendance enjoyed the witty Mr. George Swoyer, assistant professor of Marketing, who acted as toastmaster. Mr. William Kelly, the principal speaker, in his talk, emphasized the need for liberal arts educated men in the business world today.

Not only did the students get to "meet the Brothers" but they also got to "meet the teachers" due to the fine arrangements made by the committee. We, the student body, can only offer our heartfelt thanks to the committee for a job well done.

Mr. George Swoyer, toastmaster, introducing Brother Stanislaus, P.S.C., President of La Salle College, to the assembled men of La Salle.

Accounting Association

Three years ago a group of students organized this association in the La Salle College Evening Division and watched its meteoric rise as one of the most active groups on the campus. The purpose of this club is to promote and foster better relations among the accounting students of the school through extra-curricular activity.

Its varied activities include banquets, forums, and regular meetings at which persons from all fields of accounting appear. There have been speakers representing the Dept. of Internal Revenue, Army Finance, C.P.A. Offices, Special Accounting Schools, and different phases of industry.

They have their sights on playing host to the Philadelphia Accounting Forum which is held once a year in one of the colleges or universities in the Philadelphia area.

Evening Division Collegian

EDWARD GIBBONS
Evening Editor

Without a doubt the busiest group of men on the entire campus are the unsung heroes who make the deadlines every week of the school year for the La Salle "Collegian," the weekly College publication. From the gathering-up process of news during the evenings, before and after classes, until the editing and layout of material on Saturday afternoon, this group exemplifies smooth coordination.

However, the twelve men who comprise the staff look for no glory. The pleasure they derive for the most part is simply in knowing that the students of the Evening Division read and enjoy what has been written for them.

Most of the associations and clubs will readily admit that without the support of the publicity they receive in the "Collegian," it would be a much more difficult task to make a successful affair.

More popularly known as the "French Club," this group, headed by its well-liked moderator, Dr. J. Guischard, has earned the respect of several associations for its aggressiveness and spirit.

It was formed in November, 1951, and from its inception has sponsored an unbroken skein of programs that has immeasurably aided its members to become familiar with French culture. It has adopted a procedure whereby there is an affair attended or supported each month of the scholastic year.

In January, 1953, Richard Prendergast, '55, succeeded Daniel McKenna, '55, as president of the group. McKenna was one of the early leaders in the founding of the club.

Once again, this year, the club has supported the College play and also participated in the March "Meeting of the Consuls" as the representative of the Evening Division.

The French Club holds its head high for the great amount of interest it has generated among its members. It is setting a fine example for other groups to follow, that is: participation breeds acceptance.

Association

The Marketing Association can be defined as a group of men who have a desire to be in contact with the rapidly progressing development in the science of marketing. How great this desire is, can be shown by the rapid growth of the association. Monthly dinners, followed by speakers in the field, comprise their activity schedule. In 1952 the group received a charter from the American Marketing Association as its seventy-seventh student group. By past performance the group can look forward to further increases in membership paralleling, if not exceeding, the period since its inception.
